

Fanny Fajersztajn

Fanny Fajersztajn

The daughter of Jechiel and Raca Szpic, she was born on 15th April 1887 in Częstochowa. On 25th December 1907, she married Harry Fajersztajn and, in 1910, she came to America.

She was a member of the Zaloshiner Chevra Anshei Bnei Achim Ladies Auxiliary, of the [Jewish Sanatorium and] Hospital for Chronic Diseases in Brooklyn, the Rose Rubel Society^{*2} in Flatbush and at the Ladies Auxiliary of the Czenstochover Relief, as well as of the Czenstochover Yidn Book Committee. She held the position of Vice-President of the Ladies Auxiliary for several years, where she was one of the most active women working for the Old Home. One year ago, she celebrated her 50th wedding anniversary. She died on 11th July 1958.

She is mourned by her husband Harry, her two sons Sidney and John, her daughter Rose and eight grandchildren. She was a good mother and an individual with a sense of society.

Honoured be her memory.

^{*2} [TN: A group dedicated to cheering up the bedridden patients at that hospital for chronic diseases.]