

II.

Destruction

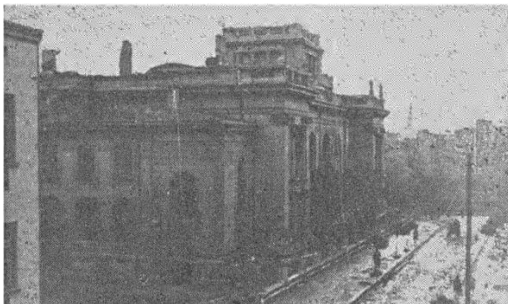

Map of the Big and Small Ghettos

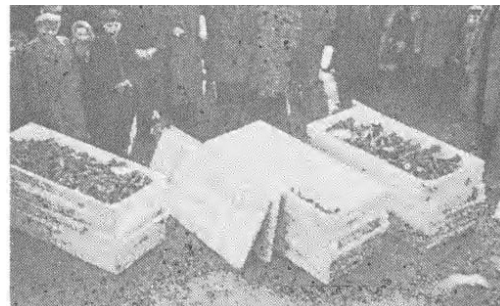

The gate and the narrow "Last Road" to the cemetery. Seen in the background are some of the tombstones.

In the empty lot, in front of the house, once stood the Old Synagogue. The owner of the house and of the large offices was Nute'le Fajertag.

The external appearance of the New Synagogue following its burning.

The earthly remains, the bones of the martyrs, found in the bunker on ul. Nadrzeczna 82-88. 200 Jews perished in that bunker.

The interior of the Old Synagogue, after the destruction.

The pile of rubble remaining from the destroyed Old Study-hall.