

GRANEK Abram (circa 1891-), craftsman, political activist, the son of Icek.

Granek worked in Częstochowa as a tailor. He belonged to the General Jewish Workers' Union Bund. In 1913, he was arrested by the Russian police for his activities in the Bund. He was held under arrest in Częstochowa and then in the provincial prison in Piotrków (Piotrków Trybunalski).

After 1918, he continued his political activity. In 1927, on the Bund's list, he stood for election to the Częstochowa City Council. However, he was unsuccessful.

He lived at Stary Rynek 11.

Mizgalska-Osowiecka, Żydzi w samorządzie, p. 64. – AP Łódź, Zarząd Żandarmerii Powiatu Częstochowskiego i Noworadomskiego 245a, register 211, ref. 310, p. 414.

Juliusz Sętiwski