

Rywka Abramson née Wajchman

She was born in Kłobuck to Zalman and Macha.

Having lived through the pain and suffering in the ghetto, she was then deported to a concentration camp in Germany. She was liberated, on 15th April 1945, from the Bergen-Belsen concentration camp.

She arrived in Canada in 1952.

She is active in the Society and takes part in all the undertakings.

Szlojme [Szlama] Białystoker¹

He was born in 1899 in Częstochowa to Mosiek [Majlech] and Udla [or Ula] née Fajfer. He lived at ul. Tartakowa.

Aged twenty, he was mobilised into the Polish army. After several months, he fled to Germany where, until 1939, he lived in the city of Köln.

With great effort, he managed to escape from Hitler's bandits and, following a long and painful path of wandering, he arrived in Tangier, Morocco.

After difficult experiences and torments, in 1944, he managed to arrive in Canada and settled in Montreal.

Szlojme Białystoker is active in the Society and helps it morally and financially.

¹ [TN: The surname appears in the official records as Białystok, without -er.]
