

SEGAL née BERLINER Dora Dwojra (1908-1959), communist activist. She was born on 22nd July 1908 in Częstochowa, the daughter of Icek Berliner and Basia née Szwarcbaum .

From an early age, she was connected to the communist movement. She was active in the International Organisation to Aid Revolutionaries and, then, in the Communist Party of Poland (KPP). On several occasions, she was arrested by the police. In the 1930s, for a year and a half, she was held in prison in Warsaw. Upon returning to Częstochowa from 1936, she served as district secretary of the KPP in Ostatni Grosz<sup>1</sup>. During World War II, she was in the USSR. In 1945, she returned to Częstochowa and joined the Polish Workers' Party, and then the PZPR.

She died on 29th December 1959 in Częstochowa and was buried in the local Jewish cemetery (grave No. 1385 I).

Her husband was Chaim Segal (15th March 1908 Turzysk – 15th April 1969 Częstochowa), the son of Moszek and Ena Dwojra née Bob. They had two daughters, Anna and Barbara. Segal, like his wife, rests in the Jewish cemetery (grave No. 1389 I).
